Objective: To edit together a mini video series about Restless Development's Accountability Advocates for social media. These short films will feature case studies about data-driven accountability, as part of Restless Development's Youth Power campaign. They will be distributed online in the run up to the High Level Political Forum on July 11th.

More about the Youth-led Accountability project:

Youth-led Accountability

Young people will become leaders in accountability for national and international commitments to development.

Accountability Advocates

Currently, 20 young leaders from youth-led organisations are leading networks of Accountability Advocates across Africa and Europe to hold leaders to account on the Global Goals.

Background: With support from Restless Development's Communications Staff, the editor will use existing interview footage of different Accountability Advocates. The editor will use this footage to create four videos in total:

- Three short case studies about two accountability advocates and one district leader (local leader from the young person's community), for social media - 30 seconds long each
- One condensed film - 2 minutes long

The editor will ensure effective and efficient editing services, full confidentiality in all aspects of the assignment and follow-up on deadlines and commitments made.

Key duties and responsibilities

- To sort through the existing video footage - interviews filmed of Restless Development's accountability advocates
- Select the best clips from the interviews
- Edit together three short films (30 seconds long each) - two of the films will profile two different Accountability Advocates, and one film will profile a district leader.
- Use the footage to edit together one longer film (2 minutes long)

Please email gemmam@restlessdevelopment.org with your CV and an example of any previous video work if you would like to apply.
